COVID protocols in schools

Dear LVJUSD Board,

It is evident that emotions are running high at present concerning the return the school and what protocols will be in place to reduce the spread of COVID, especially now that more contagious variants are circulating in our community.

We have heard many passionate arguments for and against mask mandates, vaccinations, social distancing and all the other things we all wish we didn't need to be familiar with. Everyone wishes this was not something we had to confront, but the evidence from around the world is clear: COVID is still a serious threat to the health and wellbeing of us all, especially those who are more vulnerable.

As a family we are firmly committed to doing our part in reducing the spread of this virus and strongly support following the current best scientific and medical advice, including the continued use of masks and other preventative measures for as long as necessary.

Thank you for your time, energy and continued hard work in trying to give our children the best education possible in these very difficult times.

Yours sincerely,

Matthew & Sarah Hill
