Hello,

Hopefully it has been as successful of a week throughout the district as it has been for my own children. They are thrilled to be back in the classroom and are amazed at how much quicker the day goes by.

As you know, the CDC and then the State of CA have adopted a new "3 feet" distancing guideline. Alameda County Office of Education updated their reopening plans today to state, "Distance teacher and other staff desks at least 6 feet away from student and other staff desks. Maintaining a minimum of 3 feet between student's chairs is strongly recommended."

With this new guidance, do you foresee the possibility of the upper grades being able to attend school more than 2 days per week? I can't imagine all the work that went into planning out classrooms, to then have to do it again...but I do believe our students would greatly benefit from more in person instruction. I encourage you to really look at this as our community numbers continue to drop and vaccine availability is becoming more widely accessible (especially with Newsom's announcement today). I am sure you need to finish out a couple of weeks and see how things are going, but just wanted to send a note that this parent is in favor of the school district continuing to evolve as the guidelines permit and to continue to strive for more in person instruction.

Best Regards,
Tiffany Godfrey
